The Thrill of Discovery

Under our veneer of rigorous rationality, scientists are not merely seekers but thrill seekers with more in common with rock and roll musicians than anyone might think.

I will talk about how anyone can get, or at least share, those thrills – through storytelling.